

Evernest Community Rules and Regulations

Hey there! We're here to help investors and landlords achieve their goals and have a good time in the community. To make sure everything runs smoothly, we have some simple rules for everyone:

- Treat others online the way you would in real life.
- Be respectful of others' viewpoints and politely disagree when you don't see eye-to-eye.
- Keep others' personal info and privacy in mind.
- Communicate with kindness and consideration.

Just a few things we'd prefer you didn't do:

- Self-promote.
- Bully or attack others personally, or use profanity.
- Make prejudiced comments or post anything inflammatory.

We take these rules seriously and may have to step in if we notice any violations. This could mean receiving a warning or even having your account privileges revoked. If you spot anything that goes against our guidelines, please let us know by emailing Sales@Evernest.co.

Keep in mind that by logging into the community and setting up your profile, you agree to these rules and regulations.

Let's work together to make this a great space for everyone!
